PRESS RELEASE

LEHMAN, LEE & XU PRESENTS LECTURE PROGRAM AT RENMIN UNIVERSITY INSTITUTE OF U. S. LAW

BEIJING – February 25, 2008 – Lehman, Lee & Xu presents a series of lectures by American legal scholars and practitioners at Renmin University of China's Institute of U. S. Law.

Beginning on February 25, 2008, the lecture series will invite several American law professors, judges, and attorneys to discuss laws and legal practices in the United States. The first two lectures feature Professor Patrick Randolph, who will discuss American real estate law and the subprime lending crisis in the United States on Monday, February 25, 2008 and Thursday, February 28, 2008. The lectures will take place at the Renmin University of China School of Law, located in the Mingde Building on Renmin University's Beijing campus.

Renmin University of China is the premier institution of humanities and social science studies in China. Established in 1937, the University acquired its present name on October 3, 1950, which made it the first university to be established by the newly founded People's Republic of China. The School of Law at Renmin University of China, an important leader in Chinese legal education, has provided a platform for domestic legal professionals, and has established a window for communication and exchange of legal education with foreign countries since its establishment in 1950.

Lehman, Lee & Xu is a prominent Chinese corporate law firm and trademark and patent agency with offices in Beijing, Shanghai, Shenzhen, Hong Kong, Macau, and Mongolia. Long dedicated to promoting legal education, the firm is one of few law firms authorized as an official training site for graduates of Beijing's major law schools. The firm is managed by Mr. Edward Lehman who is a long-time China resident, and is recognized as a leading expert on corporate law with 20 years of practice experience in Mainland China.
